

A MiscCoordConverter instance uses the MiscCoordConverterClient protocol to communicate with MiscCoord classes that it is able to convert between. A MiscCoord class initiates the request to the MiscCoordConverter that is its delegate. There is only one instance ever created of a given converter, meaning that converters are not reentrant at present.